

CASE STUDY

McCorquodale & Son, founded in 1911, are a family run business based in Glasgow. Adam is a final year apprentice who hopes to pass on his knowledge to others.

OVERVIEW

To celebrate Scottish Apprenticeship Week 2025, NFRC invited some of our Members to spotlight their apprentices, share their story, and tell us more about the importance of apprenticeships and what they have to offer.

BACKGROUND

Apprenticeships are important for businesses as they allow skills to be kept alive, particularly valuable in diminishing traditional skills, and passed down to the next generation.

This is vitally important both to encourage new entrants into our industry and also to ensure that we are fully staffed as a business with a wide range of experience across our workforce.

APPRENTICE SPOTLIGHT: ADAM

HOW HAS AN APPRENTICESHIP BENEFITTED YOUR CAREER?

It has developed my practical skills and knowledge, it is also great working alongside all the different trades that is within the company as they are a good team.

WOULD YOU RECOMMEND AN APPRENTICESHIP?

Most definitely would recommend an apprenticeship within McCorquodale as its a good company that listens and is extremely helpful with work or outside of work.

WHAT DO YOU ENJOY MOST ABOUT YOUR APPRENTICESHIP?

Turning up to work as it always is different and in return has its own challenges to overcome so it keeps you on your feet.

Also, the company is great to work for.

HOW HAS YOUR EMPLOYER HELPED YOU IN YOUR APPRENTICESHIP?

My employer has went over and beyond helping me during my duration of my apprenticeship in all aspects in and outside of work.

From putting me with a good squad to helping me during my hardships in any way they could to overcome them.

WHAT DO YOU HOPE TO ACHIEVE AFTER YOUR APPRENTICESHIP?

After my apprenticeship is over I hope to have a work van, but I hope to pass down the knowledge that I have learned to other keen apprentices that will join.

BENEFITS OF AN APPRENTICESHIP

OUR INDUSTRY OFFERS
LITERALLY LIMITLESS
OPPORTUNITIES
FOLLOWING THE
COMPLETION OF AN APPRENTICESHIP.

Why are apprenticeships important for individuals and businesses?

- What do apprenticeships offer to the wider economy, industry, and society?
- Why should an individual consider an apprenticeship over other forms of training or education?
- What value does an apprenticeship add to an individual's career?

An apprenticeship teaches a young person a valuable trade skill, recognized globally, and which will remain in demand for their whole working life. An apprenticeship also allows personal growth and development by building on confidence and allowing young people to mature within the working environment.

While undertaking an apprenticeship, the young person is earning while learning and is not subject to student debt as their university peers maybe. It can clearly be demonstrated by many industry personalities who have built successful businesses that there are opportunities aplenty within our industry.

BENEFITS OF AN APPRENTICESHIP

An apprenticeship is important to a young person as they are learning a skill which will stay with them for their working life. During their apprenticeship they will grow in confidence and maturity as well as developing pride in their work. Further education is not suitable for everyone, and an apprenticeship allows a young person to develop an excellent career without incurring student debt.

In addition apprenticeships are available for more mature entrants allowing people of all ages to develop a skill either as a result of upskilling or transferring to a new industry. Our company has through the years employed a number of adult apprentices and we currently have a final year adult apprentice.

This aspect of apprenticeships is often overlooked.

Employing apprentices allows us to develop our workforce by training people to the standard that we require. The industry is currently experiencing a skills shortage and we consider part of addressing this for the future is to encourage young people into the industry by offering trades apprenticeships.

WHAT DO YOU OFFER?

Tell us a little bit more about what you offer your apprentices at McCorquodale & Son, and how you support their career.

We have a dedicated member of staff to liaise with all our apprentices and hold regular reviews with them. We also have contact as required with the college that apprentices attend.

As a company we ensure that all apprentices receive a suitable variety of work to allow successful completion of their apprenticeship.

We are proud that throughout our long history we have always valued and employed apprentices.

We currently employ apprentices in Roof Slating and Tiling and Joinery.

Currently we employ seven apprentices in total at varying stages of their apprenticeships.
