

NATIONAL HERITAGE ROOFING CONTRACTORS REGISTER

The Scheme

The National Heritage Roofing Contractors Register (HRCR) scheme identifies, assesses, accredits and includes in a register persons with the highest levels of knowledge, skill and experience in the historic and vernacular systems of clay tile, slate, stone and shingle roofing in the UK.

The scheme is open to all roofers and roofing companies, with the appropriate qualifications.

The scheme comprises three classes of accreditation (Applicants must have attained a qualification at level 3 in heritage work or conservation):

Heritage Craft Roofer (HCR) – Capable heritage craftsmen/women who take responsibility for workmanship on a heritage roofing contract and who supervise the execution of the specification and the working instructions formulated by a contract professional.

Heritage Craft Roof Operative (HCRO) – Craftsmen/women who carry out the roof work as specified.
